ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

With my deepest gratitude, I acknowledge the invaluable support of numerous individuals who have made my journey towards this doctoral degree possible. First, I am deeply indebted to Professor Dr H. M. Solehuddin, M.Pd., MA., Rector of Universitas Pendidikan Indonesia, and his esteemed Board of Leaders. Their generous scholarship opportunities provided me with the privilege of pursuing my studies at this esteemed institution.

I extend my sincere appreciation to Director Professor Ahmad Buchori Muslim, S. Pd., M. Ed., PhD., and his dedicated staff at the Directorate of International Affairs. Their unwavering support since my admission to UPI has been instrumental in navigating the complexities of international education. My gratitude extends to Professor Dr. Juntika Nurihsan, M.Pd., Director of the School of Postgraduate Studies, and Professor Dr. Hj. Ratih Hurriyati, M.P., Vice Director of the School of Postgraduate Studies. Their guidance and leadership fostered an environment that was conducive to academic growth. I am immensely grateful to Professor Dr H. Eeng Ahman, MS., Dean of the Faculty of Economics and Business Education, for his support and encouragement.

Words cannot express my appreciation for the dedication and excellent supervision provided by my dissertation committee: Head Professor Dr. Nugraha Nugraha, SE., M.Si., and Akt. CA., CPA, co-promoter Dr. Maya Sari, S.E, M.M., and member Denny Andriana, S.E., PgDip., MBA., Ph.D., Ak., CMA., CA. Their expertise, patience, and mentorship were invaluable throughout my research journey.

I am also thankful to the other esteemed lecturers: Professor Dr. Vanessa Gaffar, S.E., Ak., MBA, Dr. Toni Heryana, S.Pd., MM., CRA., CRP, Dr. Budi Supriatono Purnomo, S.E., M.M., M.Si., Head of Internal Control Unit, for sharing their knowledge and enriching my academic experience.

My heartfelt gratitude goes to the Ghanaian students at UPI, both present and alumni, especially Pearl Fafa Bansah, my classmate. Their camaraderie and support are sources of inspiration and strength.

I am eternally grateful to my family, especially my wife Nana Abena Agyeiwaa Ayim, and my children. Their unwavering love, encouragement, and understanding sustained me throughout this challenging journey.

I also want to express my sincere appreciation to my friends: Sonyo Emmanuel, Emil Meddy, Shaibu Awudu, Richard Akrasi, Senyo Tsedze, Raymond Dzantor, Godsway Avissey, and all others who have offered their support in diverse ways. Finally, I thank everyone who has contributed to my doctoral journey, even in the smallest way. Your support and encouragement have made this achievement possible.

Thank you all.

ABSTRACT

This study examines the relationship between financial stability, financial literacy, inclusion, climate change, and economic growth in sub-Saharan African countries, considering the challenges posed by climate change. It also investigates how regulatory quality and financial development influence financial stability, economic growth, financial technology adoption, and climate change mitigation. While prior studies have examined these factors individually, this study addresses this gap by investigating their complex, interrelated effects on financial stability and economic growth in Sub-Saharan Africa. Addressing a critical gap in understanding the multifaceted nature of financial stability in SSA, this study employs a stratified random sampling method of 47 out of 48 sub-Saharan African countries, collecting data from 2005 to 2022. A two-step difference Generalized Method of Moments and Random Effects Models are used for analysis, with quantile regression employed to address data heterogeneity. The findings indicate that financial technology adoption in SSA countries significantly influences financial inclusion and literacy, empowers marginalised populations, and reduces inequality. This study reveals a complex relationship between financial technology, financial stability, and climate change, emphasising the importance of government initiatives that promote environmental sustainability alongside financial development. Factors such as global warming, technological accessibility, and political stability have also been found to impact economic development and financial stability. This research highlights unexpected challenges in the interactions between climate change, adoption of financial technology, and financial stability. This underscores the need for equitable policies to support both economic growth and environmental protection. This study also emphasises the interconnectedness of financial development, regulatory quality, economic growth, and financial stability in SSA countries. Policymakers in SSA need to integrate these aspects into their planning and decision-making processes to ensure regional financial stability and sustainable development.

ABSTRAK

Studi ini menguji hubungan antara stabilitas keuangan, literasi keuangan, inklusi, perubahan iklim, dan pertumbuhan ekonomi di negara-negara Afrika Sub-Sahara dengan mempertimbangkan tantangan yang ditimbulkan oleh perubahan iklim. Studi ini juga menyelidiki bagaimana kualitas regulasi dan perkembangan keuangan mempengaruhi stabilitas keuangan, pertumbuhan ekonomi, adopsi teknologi keuangan, dan mitigasi perubahan iklim. Meskipun studi sebelumnya telah menguji faktor-faktor ini secara individual, studi ini mengatasi kesenjangan tersebut dengan menyelidiki efek kompleks dan saling terkait mereka terhadap stabilitas keuangan dan pertumbuhan ekonomi di Afrika Sub-Sahara. Dengan mengatasi kesenjangan penting ini dalam pemahaman tentang sifat multi-dimensi stabilitas keuangan di Afrika Sub-Sahara, studi ini menggunakan metode pengambilan sampel acak bertingkat dari 47 dari 48 negara Afrika Sub-Sahara, mengumpulkan data dari tahun 2005 hingga 2022. Metode Generalized Method of Moments dan Model Efek Acak dua langkah digunakan untuk analisis, dengan regresi kuantil digunakan untuk mengatasi heterogenitas data. Temuan menunjukkan bahwa adopsi teknologi keuangan di negara-negara Afrika Sub-Sahara secara signifikan memengaruhi inklusi dan literasi keuangan, memberdayakan populasi yang terpinggirkan dan mengurangi ketimpangan. Studi ini mengungkapkan hubungan kompleks antara teknologi keuangan, stabilitas keuangan, dan perubahan iklim, menekankan pentingnya inisiatif pemerintah yang mempromosikan keberlanjutan lingkungan seiring dengan perkembangan keuangan. Faktor-faktor seperti pemanasan global, aksesibilitas teknologi, dan stabilitas politik juga ditemukan mempengaruhi perkembangan ekonomi dan stabilitas keuangan. Penelitian ini menyoroti tantangan yang tidak terduga dalam interaksi antara perubahan iklim, adopsi teknologi keuangan, dan stabilitas keuangan. Hal ini menekankan perlunya kebijakan yang adil yang mendukung baik pertumbuhan ekonomi maupun perlindungan lingkungan. Selain itu, studi ini menekankan keterhubungan antara perkembangan keuangan, kualitas regulasi, pertumbuhan ekonomi, dan stabilitas keuangan di negara-negara Afrika Sub-Sahara. Implikasinya adalah bahwa para pembuat kebijakan di Afrika Sub-Sahara perlu mengintegrasikan berbagai aspek ini ke dalam proses perencanaan dan pengambilan keputusan mereka untuk memastikan stabilitas keuangan regional dan pembangunan yang berkelanjutan.
