ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

All praise is due to Allah SWT., the Almighty God, whose boundless mercy and blessings have sustained my physical and psychological well-being throughout this academic endeavour and throughout my life.

I am deeply grateful to my parents and family, whose unwavering support, love, and understanding have been my greatest source of strength.

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to those who have been pivotal in my research and scholarly pursuits:

First and foremost, I extend my profound gratitude to my supervisor, Bapak Wawan Gunawan, M.Ed., Ph.D., for his exceptional guidance, insightful feedback, and steadfast support. His expertise and encouragement have been crucial in shaping this research and ensuring its success.

My sincere appreciation also goes to Bapak Dr. Sudarsono, S.Pd., M.A., the co-supervisor, for his continuous support and constructive suggestions. His commitment to my academic growth and thoughtful advice have been essential in advancing this work.

I am also deeply thankful to Ibu Prof. Emi Emilia, Ph.D., the first examiner, for her meticulous evaluation and thoughtful comments. Her constructive feedback has greatly enriched the quality of this research and helped refine my work.

I extend my gratitude to Bapak Dr. Budi Hermawan, S.Pd., M.PC., the second examiner, for his insightful review and valuable input. His detailed examination and expertise have significantly contributed to the final outcome of this thesis.

Additionally, I would like to express my profound thanks to my academic supervisor, Ibu Gin Gin Gustine, M.Pd., Ph.D., for her exceptional guidance, insightful feedback, and unwavering support throughout this academic venture.

I am profoundly grateful to LPDP (Lembaga Pengelola Dana Pendidikan) for their generous support and funding, which has been instrumental in facilitating my research and academic pursuits. Their commitment to supporting scholars has made a significant impact on my Master's journey.

I would also like to extend my heartfelt gratitude to the English teacher and the Grade XI students at a Madrasah Aliyah Negeri in Sumedang, where this study was conducted. Their invaluable participation and willingness to engage with the research were instrumental to the study outcomes.

I am deeply thankful to Colorado Course Bengkulu for providing me with the opportunity to work and grow. I also want to extend my heartfelt gratitude to Mam Feny Martina and Sir Pebri Prandika Putra, my undergraduate lecturers, whose exceptional guidance and unwavering support were a beacon during challenging times.

Finally, I extend my deepest thanks to everyone who supported me throughout the pursuit of my Master's degree.

AN ANALYSIS OF IDEATIONAL METAPHORS IN STUDENTS' EXPOSITION WRITINGS

ABSTRACT

Grammatical metaphors and nominalization play crucial roles in academic writing. However, studies on how grammatical metaphor and nominalization are used by students in writing exposition texts have not been widely reported. This study aimed to analyze how teaching instructions can enhance the students' analytical exposition text writings in terms of structure, linguistic features, and ideational metaphors. It also sought to explore how the effective deployment of ideational metaphors helps develop students' analytical exposition writing in terms of linguistic features. This study employed textual analysis as the research design. The data were collected from nine student texts from low, middle, and high-achieving groups. The findings show that the instruction contributed to students' ability to write analytical exposition texts featuring appropriate schematic structure, linguistic features, and ideational metaphors in their analytical exposition texts. It was found that high-achieving students had the highest deployment of ideational metaphors while their low-achieving counterparts had the lowest deployment. The metaphors most frequently used in student texts were a shift from Process to Thing, Quality to Thing, Circumstance to Quality, Relator to Process, and Process to Quality. The other shift types were less frequently used, such as a shift from Relator to Circumstance, Congruent Process (Process A) to Incongruent Process (Process B), Phase of Process to Thing, Conation to Thing, and Modality of Process to Thing. Additionally, it was found that the effective deployment of ideational metaphors helps develop students' exposition writing in terms of technicality, abstraction, and reasoning. Based on the findings, it is recommended that teachers introduce students to various types of ideational metaphors that align with the linguistic features of genre-specific texts to enhance their writing skills.

ANALISIS METAFOR IDEASIONAL DALAM TULISAN EKSPOSISI SISWA

ABSTRAK

Metafora gramatikal dan nominalisasi memainkan peran penting dalam penulisan akademis. Namun, penelitian mengenai penggunaan metafora gramatikal dan nominalisasi oleh siswa dalam teks eksposisi masih terbatas. Penelitian ini bertujuan untuk menganalisis bagaimana instruksi guru dapat meningkatkan kualitas tulisan teks eksposisi siswa, terutama dalam aspek struktur, fitur linguistik, dan metafora ideasional. Selain itu, penelitian ini juga berupaya mengeksplorasi bagaimana penerapan metafora ideasional yang efektif dapat membantu mengembangkan tulisan eksposisi siswa dalam hal fitur linguistik. Penelitian ini menggunakan desain analisis tekstual. Data dikumpulkan dari sembilan teks yang ditulis oleh siswa dengan berbagai tingkat kemampuan akademik: tinggi, sedang, dan rendah. Temuan penelitian menunjukkan bahwa instruksi guru berkontribusi pada kemampuan siswa untuk menulis teks eksposisi yang lebih baik, terutama dalam struktur skematis, fitur linguistik, dan penggunaan metafora ideasional. Hasil penelitian juga menunjukkan bahwa siswa dengan kemampuan akademik tinggi cenderung menggunakan metafora ideasional lebih banyak dibandingkan dengan siswa berkemampuan akademik rendah. Metafora yang paling sering digunakan dalam teks siswa meliputi pergeseran dari Process ke Thing, Quality ke Thing, Circumstance ke Quality, Relator ke Process, dan Process ke Quality. Sementara itu, jenis metafora ideasional yang paling jarang digunakan meliputi pergeseran dari Relator ke Circumstance, Congruent Process (Process A) ke Incongruent Process (Process B), Phase of Process ke Thing, Conation ke Thing, dan Modality of Process ke Thing. Selain itu, ditemukan bahwa penggunaan metafora ideasional yang efektif dapat membantu mengembangkan tulisan eksposisi siswa dalam aspek technicality, abstraction, dan reasoning. Berdasarkan temuan tersebut, peneliti merekomendasikan agar guru memperkenalkan berbagai jenis metafora ideasional yang selaras dengan fitur linguistik teks sesuai genre yang difokuskan untuk meningkatkan keterampilan menulis siswa.
