ABSTRAK

Penelitian ini bertujuan untuk mengurai konstruksi budaya sebagai akar permasalahan kekerasan seksual anak dari sudut pandang feminisme. Dengan menggunakan studi kasus, wawancara mendalam dilakukan terhadap tiga konselor yang menangani kasus kekerasan seksual anak. Melalui analisis data grounded theory, diperoleh tiga tema besar dalam terjadinya kekerasan seksual anak, diantaranya 1) Patriarki dan toxic masculinity, 2) Relasi kuasa, dan 3) Kontruksi nilai anak. Melalui penelitian ini, diharapkan dapat dijadikan alternatif baru dalam mengembangkan program pendidikan seksual kepada anak dan program penyuluhan yang ditujukan juga kepada orang dewasa.

ABSTRACT

This study aims to analyze cultural construction as the root problem of child sexual abuse from the point of view of feminism. By using the study case method, the in-depth interview were conducted with three counselors who deal with the cases of child sexual abuse. By means of grounded theory data analysis method, there three major themes underlying the occurrence of sexual violence against children were obtained, including 1) Patriarchy and toxic masculinity, 2) Power relations, and 3) Children's value construction. This research is expected to be able to provide a new alternative in developing not only sexual educational programs addressed to children, but awareness-raising and precaution programs addressed to adults as well.
